

BLACK CONTEST REJECTED BY SUPREME COURT

JUSTICE URGES UNDERSTANDING OF JUDICIARY

Carl V. Weygandt Chief Speaker At County Bar Rally

ATTY W. H. VODREY IS GUEST OF HONOR

Operations Of Ohio Supreme Court Are Pictured

LISBON, Oct. 11 — Urging greater understanding of the judiciary branches of the government on the part of the public and prefacing his remarks with a tribute to the guest of honor, Carl V. Weygandt, chief justice of the supreme court of Ohio, addressed approximately 150 members of the Columbiana County Bar association and their guests at a testimonial banquet here Saturday evening honoring Atty W. H. Vodrey of East Liverpool.

The speaker declared that the judiciary was the least understood of the three branches of government. Illustrating this point, he stated he sometimes received letters addressed to the chief justice in care of the municipal court, Cleveland.

The Old and the New

The speaker drew a sharp contrast between the attitudes of old time lawyers for each other and the good feeling prevailing today. "Within my recollection," he said, "there was a period when a law suit resulted in a lasting feud between attorneys. That has been replaced by good fellowship."

The speaker indicated that bar associations through the cooperative effort they sponsor, have eliminated almost all of the old feeling. He urged all law school graduates to affiliate themselves with groups of this nature.

A detailed picture of supreme court operations was drawn by the justice. "After each case has been presented," Judge Weygandt said, "the seven justices withdraw for their deliberations. The chief justice gives his opinion of the case first and is followed by the senior justice. All members in order of their seniority, then express their views. If a member indicates he wishes to engage in further research the proceedings are halted until he has satisfied himself on the point in question."

Youngest Vote First

Following the expression of opinions the members vote—the youngest justice first. Four votes determine the court's opinion. When the issue is decided a syllabus is prepared and proofs drawn which are submitted to the justices for criticism. This is minute, the speaker said, involving even the punctuation.

A course in legal history for law schools was recommended by Justice Weygandt who said some of the attorneys appearing before the court were not familiar with some of the greatest names in Ohio's legal history. One of these famous names, according to the speaker, was Chief Justice Swan who presided over the court just prior to the civil war.

"This great jurist kept Ohio from becoming the South Carolina of the civil war at a time when he furored over the fugitive slave law as at its greatest," the jurist declared. "Although the principal of this law was contrary to his own convictions he sacrificed his reputation and incurred the enmity of his party to uphold the law."

"If Chief Justice Swan had voted with the two members of the court siding against the United States

Only the distant booming of shells and occasional roar of a bombing plane overhead matched the low rumble of these tanks as the Japanese juggernaut rolled through a deserted village and war-torn countryside in North China as Tokyo's legions pushed a major offensive in the Tientsin area near the Tientsin-Pukow railroad.

THREE ARE HURT IN SIX ACCIDENTS

A. G. Haggis Of Canfield Is Killed In Youngstown Mishap

Three persons were slightly hurt in six traffic accidents in and near Salem Saturday.

There were no mishaps Sunday or early this morning, according to police reports. Traffic accidents took a toll of 19 lives in the state over the weekend, however.

At Youngstown today John Carafa, 24, of Holliday's Grove, W. Va., was freed after posting $5,000 bond following the death of A. G. Haggis, 40, of Canfield, in an intersection crash on main highways south of Youngstown.

Manslaughter Charge

Carafa was charged with manslaughter after telling Mahoning County Coroner David H. Hauser that he "did not see" a traffic light at the intersection during a light rain Saturday afternoon.

Haggis was killed instantly when his car, careening from the collision ran into a church yard after breaking a telephone pole near the corner. His body was found 25 feet from where the cars collided.

Edgar Huddleston of 388 E. Third st., suffered cuts on the right side of his face when he was knocked to the ground by a passing automobile at the corner of E. State st. and Broadway at 11:45 a. m. Saturday.

Huddleston, dazed by the blow, was unable to get the license number of the car, which failed to stop. He was hit when the machine came around the corner. Patrolman James Hassey reported.

Mrs. Walter Turner of 608 Aetna st., and Loretta Herman received head injuries when the car in which they were riding with Mr.

OGDEN MILLS DIES TODAY; ILL 2 WEEKS

Death Comes Suddenly To Former Treasury Secretary

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. — Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, died at his home here today at 11:50 a. m. after an illness of two weeks.

Mills was 53 years old.

According to business associates, his death came with a seemingly trivial illness which had kept him from his desk for two weeks.

Mills had suffered several slight illnesses in the course of the summer.

He took a long cruise in the hot weather on his yacht "Avalon" from his home club, the Cold Spring Harbor Beach club, ending at the New York Yacht club station at Newport.

Because of the recurring illnesses, Mills had given up much of his activities in the Republican party.

Salem Marksmen Win In Wellsburg Event

Two Salem trap shooters were among winners in the eighth annual Columbus day shoot at the Grandview Gun club in Wellsburg, W. Va., Sunday.

C. S. Chisholm won the 100-target, 16-yard event, with a score of 85.

L. V. Carnes was the other Salem shooter to place among the winners, capturing first in the Class D, 100-target, 16-yard event, with a score of 80.

C. F. Moore of Brownsville, Pa., won in Class A, smashing 97 out of 100 targets.

R. C. McAllister of Salem also competed in the shoot, but was unable to place among the winners in his class with a score of 82.

A.M.E. Scout Troop Is Invested During Service At Church

An investiture service was held for members of the new A. M. E. Zion church by Scout troop, known as Neighborhood patrol No. 2, Sunday night at the church.

In charge of the service was George Meiser, scoutmaster of troop No. 56, while M. H. Mawhinney, court of honor chairman, presented the five members of the troop with tenderfoot pins and cards. Charles E. Felton, Columbiana county scout council executive, spoke on "Scouting."

Roy H. Clark is scoutmaster of the new troop, which now brings the total number of troops in the city to five. Thad Clark last night received a second class pin.

The service replaced the regular evening worship at the church and Rev. Ira Lavigne pronounced the invocation. Eddie Howell, Salem Scout commissioner, was present.

Newell Girl Victim Of Shotgun Blast

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 11.—Blonde Virginia Hulderman, 22, of nearby Newell, W. Va., shot and killed herself this morning because it was reported, her sweetheart turned her down last night.

Coroner Arnold Devon of Columbiana county said the girl committed suicide at 8 a. m. when she obtained her father's shotgun and fired a charge through her right shoulder.

Rushed to East Liverpool City hospital, she died two hours later.

The climax to the "lover's quarrel" occurred at the girl's home on Washington School rd., at Newell.

Motorist Held

J. M. Kufeltner, 29, of R. D. 2, Salem, arrested at 12:40 a. m. today on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, awaited arraignment before Mayor George Harroff.

Kufeltner was arrested by Patrolman Paul Ormsby on Mill st., near the Pennsylvania railroad after the officer saw him crash through red traffic lights downtown, crash three red traffic lights downtown.

Supreme Court Docket Crowded This Session

Current session of the supreme court promises to be another epochal one. More than 500 cases are on the docket, many of them involving important New Deal measures. Three of the most vital issues scheduled for scrutiny by the court include the securities and exchange commission and the Wagner labor act, both of which have been challenged as to the scope and nature of their authority, and the federal power program which has been protested by private utilities which claim that federal financing cannot constitutionally be granted to a publicly operated utility which is in competition with a private power development. Other test cases equally important are scheduled.

PREPARE TRIAL FOR MRS. HAHN

Woman Accused Of Mass Murder Goes Before Court Today

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11. — Mrs. Anna Hahn, 31-year-old German born blonde, strode confidently into court today without "a worry on my mind," to face an indictment in what Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcall termed "the biggest mass murder in the country."

In preparation for the trial a venire of 75 prospective jurors were summoned.

Mrs. Hahn is specifically charged with first degree murder in the death last June 3 of Jacob Kerner, 78, and the demise July 6 of George Geshman, 67, who was found dead in what was scheduled for today.

Outcall declined to say whether he would ask the death penalty for Mrs. Hahn, but Assistant Prosecutor Gordon Scherer has declared the state would "ask for the chair."

Common Pleas Judge Charles Bell announced no photographs would be permitted in the court room, but would telegraph instruments be allowed.

Wagner's death prompted an investigation by Outcall which reached to Denver and Colorado Springs, Colo., where authorities delved into circumstances surrounding the death Aug. 1 in a Colorado Springs hospital of George Obendorfer, 67, a moderately wealthy Cincinnati cobbler.

Wagner and Geshman became violently ill while in Mrs. Hahn's company or shortly afterward, and Obendorfer was accompanied west by the indicted woman, the wife of a telegrapher.

Two Suits And $18 Stolen From Room

Police investigated Saturday the theft of two suits of clothes and $18 in cash from Albert Slazack, a roomer at the O. H. Bates home, 157 W. Pershing st.

The theft was blamed on a man who rented a room in the house Friday night and then disappeared early the next day. He was described as being 35 years old, weighing 150 pounds and five feet, seven inches tall. His name is unknown.

300 Pounds Copper Wire Taken At Mine

The theft of 300 pounds of copper wire from the mine of the Brookwood Coal Co., located near Albany, north of Salem, was reported today to the sheriff's office.

The persons who stole the wire clipped it, piece by piece, from the posts in the mine where it was used to furnish power for operating the mine cars.

Schreckengost Judges Entries In Art Display

Nationally Known Artist Views More Than 150 Offerings

With more than 130 paintings on display, the art exhibit sponsored by The News was one of the outstanding features of the Fall Festival Friday and Saturday.

Judging of the oil, water color and crayon work was done by Viktor Schreckengost of Sebring, instructor at the Cleveland School of Art since 1930. He has been a judge at national art exhibits.

Schreckengost is also an industrial designer of china, glass, kitchen-ware, motor trucks, etc., and is designer for the Salem China Co. and the Limoges China Co. of Sebring. As sculptor and ceramic artist he has exhibited at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Chicago Art Institute and in all important ceramic exhibitions. He has been awarded many prizes.

An interested visitor at The News art exhibit was Sidney S. Haines, who came to Salem recently from Columbus as artist for the Church Budget Envelope Co. Haines, a portrait painter, is preparing to open a commercial art studio in Salem the last of this month. He will teach life classes, advertising layout, design and study of various mediums.

He studied at the John Huntington Polytechnic Institute and the Cleveland School of Art.

Mrs. Cassidy Named Junior Club Leader

Mrs. Beatrice Cassidy of Salem has been named supervisor of the Junior Shakespeare clubs of Salem and East Liverpool, it was announced today by Emmett Cunningham, state representative for the national Shakespearean organization.

Mrs. Cassidy, a dancing teacher and member of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Dance Masters of America, is a former instructor in Alliance public schools and Alliance city playground supervisor. She also is a piano teacher.

The club, which will form in the near future with the assistance of local teachers and club women, will be educational in purpose, designed to give grade and Junior High school students a combination course in expression, dramatics and story telling based on the works of Shakespeare.

Awards will be offered at various stages of the course and diplomas in elementary dramatic arts will be given each child who completes the club work.

A Shakespearean play, entitled "The Taming of the Shrew," will be staged by club members at the close

PLEADS GUILTY ON AUTO COUNT

Robert McNamara, 20, Is Sentenced To Mansfield Reformatory

LISBON, Oct. 11.—Robert McNamara, 20, former Salem youth, pleaded guilty before Judge W. F. Lones this morning to a grand jury indictment charging him with driving an automobile without the owner's consent.

He was immediately sentenced to serve from one to 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory.

The judge nolleed a charge of shooting with intent to kill, returned against McNamara by the grand jury. The youth, who first pleaded innocent to the charges, fired several shots at James Wright, Salem taxi cab driver, when Wright responded to his call on May 1.

McNamara fled in Wright's car and disappeared ahead of a stream of police bullets. He was captured later in Cleveland and returned to this county.

Another grand jury case was disposed of today when Leonard Gasper, 18, of Canton, changed his plea to guilty to a charge of second degree manslaughter and was placed on probation for two years.

Gasper was indicted secretly by the grand jury in the death of Miss Goldy May, of Canton, in a traffic accident on the Damascus road May 28.

Emmett Osgood, of East Liverpool, charged with cutting with intent to wound, was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail today when he admitted cutting Joseph Paparodis, Salem restaurant manager, in a scrape in Salem two months ago.

The Columbiana county court house will be closed tomorrow due to Columbus day, a legal holiday.

District Nurses Will Gather Here

A meeting of District 3, Ohio State Nurses' association, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Hannah E. Mullins Nurses home, East State st.

Guest speaker will be Miss Clara F. Brouse, chief examiner, nurses examining committee, Columbus. Miss Brouse will speak on "Nurses Registration in Ohio."

A ten-minute review of the "American Journal of Nursing" will be given during the session.

Members of Salem City Hospital Nurses' association will be present. Miss Golda K. Strick of Salem is program chairman.

LEVITT'S CASE IS REFUSED BY HIGH TRIBUNAL

Roosevelt Appointee Is Given Clear Title To His Job

BOSTON LAWYER MEETS SAME FATE

Court Agrees To Review New Deal Controversies

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. — The supreme court refused today to permit Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Boston attorney, to contest Justice Hugo L. Black's right to a seat on the bench.

This action gave Black a clear title to his judicial post so far as present challenges are concerned. Levitt has indicated, however, that he might start other proceedings.

Promises to Fight On

"This fight will not be over if my petition is denied," he asserted. The court refused to permit Levitt to file his petition, which contended Black was constitutionally ineligible for the position.

Levitt claimed Black was barred because he was a member of the senate which voted to increase the "emoluments" of justices by permitting them to retire at full pay after reaching 70 and serving ten years.

He added that the retirement of Justice Van Devanter did not create a vacancy on the court and hence there was no place for Black to fill. He contended that Van Devanter still technically is a member of the tribunal.

Service by Black, the petition said, "will interfere with and prevent due, proper and lawful administration of justice in the supreme court of the United States."

The action of Justice Black's colleagues was announced to a packed court room by Chief Justice Hughes who said Levitt did not have sufficient interest in the litigation to justify him in proceeding with it.

The Kelly motion was denied on the basis of the action on Levitt's petition.

In other actions today the court announced whether it would review or decline to pass on approximately 300 cases appealed from lower courts.

Black Takes No Part

Black, the court said, "took no part in the consideration or decision of the cases in which decisions, or orders, are this day announced."

K. Of C. Members Plan Celebration For Columbus Day

Details of the Columbus Day program Tuesday have been completed by Salem council No. 1818, Knights of Columbus. The lodge, which is sponsoring the observance with a view to making it an annual city-wide event, extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend. There will be no admission fee.

A card party will open at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the K. of C. hall, to be followed at 8:30 by a dance. Culberson's string quartet will play.

Rev. Fr. Bachler of Lisbon and Rev. Fr. M. J. Casey of St. Paul's Catholic church of Salem, will be speakers during a program which will open at 9:30. Refreshments will be served.

Program Is Given At Center School

The community meeting of Center school was held Friday night at the school house.

The following program was enjoyed: Song by the group, "Old Black Joe"; reading, "Good Roads and Other Things"; Helen Kloos; reading, "Why I'm Thankful"; Galen Berger; piano, Esther Finn; play, "Clever Mr. Cloverpot"; Mrs. Frank Berger, Mrs. Ernest Berger, Mrs. Lois Mercer, Galen Berger and Margaret Burson.

A talk was given by Paul Palmer, Hanoverton, clerk of the board of education of the Western Rural school district, who urged support of a measure soon to be voted upon for the erection of a new centralized district school. He explained the great need for the new building and pointed out the advantages students would derive from it.

Nine Lambs Stolen From Graham Farm

Columbiana county authorities today wondered whether the "rustlers" who stole cattle in the Mahoning county area around the Center last week had decided to make a few "raids" in the county.

Barney Graham, residing in the Leontonia-Columbiana road, reported to Sheriff H. G. G. today the theft of nine lambs from his farm during the night.

RETURNING TO REALITIES

The sensation President Roosevelt's Chicago speech was calculated to produce: outraged feelings in Japan, Germany and Italy; revival of hope for American participation in the League of Nations; restoration of the big club policy in the orient—surely cannot have fallen short of expectations.

These are great possibilities, the stuff of sweeping and exciting speculation. Mr. Roosevelt is a master of generalities, and it is understandable that he wants to display his talent on the stage of world affairs. For several days he has been the symbol of exalted thought in the ordinarily sordid field of international relations.

Other presidents have done the same thing. Certainly Woodrow Wilson never surpassed in noble thinking about the tough problems of international action. Indeed, nobility of purpose and plan have been characteristics of this nation's participation in world affairs since the world war.

Unfortunately, the effect on realities always was disappointing. Other governments usually have left America holding its bag of idealistic thoughts when the crisis came. Returning, then, to realities after an interlude of theory about what the President has visualized for them, Americans will seek the answer to this all-important question:

Has Mr. Roosevelt interpreted correctly their own feeling about intervention, in cooperation with certain other governments, to restrain still other governments which have incurred his displeasure?

Few Americans regard intervention as their duty. Instinct warns them to be realistic, not idealistic. The problem of foreign policy here, or anywhere else, is to know with what the people will agree. A treaty or a promise, like a law, is only as strong as the popular support for it.

It remains a question whether President Roosevelt, insofar as he has changed American foreign policy from detachment to impending intervention, has read correctly the minds of his countrymen. Here is one thing on which he cannot point to a blanket mandate to do as he pleases.

STRIKING A BALANCE

A bitter subject at the American Federation of Labor convention is the alleged bias of the national labor relations board in favor of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

J. Warren Madden, the board's chairman, denied in a speech to the A. F. of L. delegates that the allegation was true. It happened that the day after he spoke the board, in a surprise decision, said minority A. F. of L. craft unions in the Commonwealth plant of General Steel Castings Corp. in Granite City, Ill., could bargain for workers in a plant where an overwhelming majority of workers belong to a C. I. O. affiliate.

The decision pointed out, significantly, that the C. I. O. affiliate had a logical claim to represent all the men, but the board believed the A. F. of L. was entitled to protection. In other cases it has been the board's charged neglect to furnish such protection which has aroused the A. F. of L.

This jurisdictional fight in organized labor is red hot. The fact is, however, that the C. I. O., up to now, seems to have been convinced that it was getting the breaks from the labor board, which has the power of life and death over unions contesting for bargaining power.

There was danger, in other words, that when C. I. O. held its convention it would agree tacitly with the A. F. of L. charge of labor board bias by not complaining that the board also was showing bias against it. That situation seems now to have been averted by at least one ruling offensive to C. I. O.

The U. S. Fifteenth Infantry in China needs a bells player and saxophone, piccolo, clarinet and snare drums players. It is evidently Uncle Sam's plan to show neither the Japs nor Chinese any quarter.—New York Sun.

Another trouble is that nearly every new federal law imposes a new burden on the treasury at a time when the treasury can hardly borrow enough money to keep up with itself.—Indianapolis News.

The news that Edward and Wally are coming to America should bring a number of dress suits out of the moth balls.

THE STARS SAY :

For Tuesday, October 12

Very propitious are the planetary forces affecting this day. There will be much activity in all departments of life—business, finance, employment, trade and personal affairs. It is an excellent time to focus all the energies and faculties on the attainment of high goals. There is assurance of popular prestige and gratification in the realm of heart's desire.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year that should mark the achievements of the highest goals and the fondest hopes and wishes for progress, prosperity, prestige, pleasure, happiness and full contentment. It is a year in which all the forces and faculties should be focused and directed upon noble objectives.

A child born on this day may be equipped with all the forces and faculties to make for itself a place of renown. It may be proud, noble, benevolent and may attain power, prestige and happiness.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal; Charles M. Schwab starts off the day with a pleasant surprise—an autographed picture of him and Mrs. Schwab at Loretto. Fifty-five years of wedded bliss. And still smiling hand in hand through the years.

I was musing today how many strange names come out of Los Angeles. Miss Ogalallah Wowe, the pie shop lady, for instance. And Capheus Grunt, the negro porter at Jack Dempsey's hotel. New books daily but nothing to read. Thank the gods for Dickens, and Robert Louis Stevenson, et al.

Victor Moore's goofy interpretation of Throbbottom in that musical panky several years ago did much to belittle the office of vice president. Yet it strikes me the Texan, John Garner, has done much to shuck the job of this nonsense view. Garner is far from a Throbbottom.

I often wonder how playwrights, one in particular, frequently so vicious in characterization, would like to be the targets for such acid etched caricatures. How expertly Gilbert and Sullivan, now immortal, ducked cruelty in farcical delineations.

A note from Bebe Daniels in London tells of her leaving with her husband, Ben Lyon, for a three months tour of South Africa. Here is an example of what can be done when cinema players face a yawn from the studios. These two pulled up stakes and hiked for London and the continent, where they cashed in with personal appearances on the popularity that had long been theirs. They have been on the go now for more than a year and having a bang-up time to boot.

The grammatical lapse for which I received most hoots was when I wrote something was "most unique." Everybody seemed to know it was a faux pas save myself. Yet a comforting friend says Meredith, Cooper and H. G. Wells hung up the same blunder. E. R. Edison, not known as he should be, writes with a swing many of us would like to strike. Last night in one of his armored knight romances I read: "As a sweet in the goblet, as pearls when the silken thread is broken, all her fierce lithe pride and queenship was unstrung; fallen loose, melted away." And he speaks of a hurried bit of osculation as "a bee-winged kiss. What a glow in turning out a polished phrase!

Deep tribulation often inspires a thirst for the why of things. An example is Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who has certainly passed through the sacrificial flames. People who meet her these days are astonished at her culture. Not the pseudo chop-logic of the cafes, but well-grounded knowledge. She discusses intelligently many of the philosophers. Her English is precise and her vocabulary large. Circumstances, however, have made it almost compulsory that she salvage a livelihood as somewhat of a curio in the night clubs.

It was comforting to religionists that Marconi was repeating the Lord's prayer while drawing final breath. Science and religion are frequently reported so far apart. Although Dr. Alexis Carrell in his "Man, the Unknown" revealed that great scientific minds were almost a unit in a belief that back of all creation was an absolute perfection. A perfection mankind calls by various names—God, Higher Power, Super Intelligence, etc.

Billy Bryant, last of river showboat men, is one of my interesting correspondents. He ties up for the winter at Pt. Pleasant, about four miles from Gallipolis. Billy has a hearty philosophy and is bubbling with the sheer joy of living. He is owner of the show boat, head of the troupe, in fact the whole works but doesn't mind sickling a path down the levee for customers, selling tickets, playing the callopie and even taking a relief turn in the pilot house. A disciple of simple things, Billy likes to sit on the top deck at eventide and watch the sun go down, singing the old time songs as he floats along.

Honest Injun Note: Ople Read, I believe it was, used to tell of a friend who visited an anthropologist studying a group of Navajos. The second morning the scientist knocked at his guest's door and, finding it locked, observed: "Your valuables are safe. There are no white men within ten miles of here."

I never see a juggler, Indian club swinger or artist of the flying trapeze and horizontal bars without reflecting that most of them—save those from the circus families—are products of the back yard pin shows. W. C. Fields, Joe Cook, etc. are alumni. And it would surprise how many stars of the stage and screen had their genesis in the penny parlor show.

COLDS

WITHIN THE past few weeks there has been an unusual prevalence of colds. Whenever the weather is extreme or unseasonable, an increase in the number of these cases is expected.

Public health officials are always concerned about sudden outbreaks of severe colds, because they cannot forget the influence, the "flu" epidemic of 1918 and 1919. Many of my readers will recall the spread of that dreadful disease which caused more deaths throughout the world than many of the so-called "plagues" of history.

Great strides have been made in research in this field. But still the common cold gripe and influenza puzzle us. The actual causes of these disorders are still unknown.

Consult Physician
But it is possible to guard against infections of the nose, throat and upper portion of the breathing equipment and in the beginning to control them. No matter how trivial a cold may seem in the beginning it is always best to "doctor" it immediately. By all means consult your physician who will outline the necessary treatment.

If fever is present, the patient should remain in bed. Bear in mind that a few days' rest in bed may check the progress of what at first appears as a trivial cold, but which actually is the beginning of an influenza attack.

The victim of influenza usually complains of chilly sensations, fever and prostration. If such signs are present, rest in bed and medical attention are urgent. Frequently there is a dry hacking cough with pain in the chest.

Highly Contagious
Influenza in and of itself may be a mild disease. But it must never be accepted as a trivial thing. Too often, if neglected, it leads to dangerous complications. It is especially serious when it afflicts the very young and the aged.

The sufferer from influenza should be kept away from other members of the family. Let me urge upon you that the disease in its acute state is highly contagious, rapidly spreading from one person to another.

Complete rest in bed, proper nourishment and the taking of medicines prescribed by the doctor are essential if rapid recovery is to be expected. Early attention will prevent such complications as pneumonia, middle-ear infections, nasal sinusitis, bronchitis and other serious infections.

SCHOOL GROWTH
SHOWING GAINSEnrollment Boost Follows
Increase in Employment Calls

An increase in employment calls of 20 per cent over last year has brought a 10 per cent increase in enrollments to the private commercial schools of the United States and Canada, according to a recent survey.

The survey was conducted among 150 private business schools, by the School Advertising Division of the Dean W. Geer company, Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

The majority of the schools report that they have received more calls for graduates than they have been able to fill this year. The demand for young men secretaries has been especially active. All the requests from employers have been for young people with specialized training in stenography, bookkeeping, accounting, and related business subjects.

Of the schools reporting, 65 per

Millions Are Fighting
That Tired Feeling

Some people are always tired, no matter how much sleep they get. Often they are just suffering from constipation. For early fatigue, mental dullness, sleeplessness, sour stomach and its resultant bad breath, mental depression, the aggravation of most skin blemishes, can all be caused by it.

So keep regular. And if you need to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This gentle laxative can help bring relief. Extremely important, too, is the mild stimulation it gives the flow of bile from the liver, without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. That's why millions are sold yearly. "THE SILVER ROD MYSTERY"

by Lewis Allen Browne

CHAPTER XIV

"It's old stuff, Mr. Stevenson," Harper said, after he got his pipe going. "Somebody commits a crime. Then he learns there was a witness. He has to put the witness out of the way. It has been done before."

"There are a dozen different angles to this that makes it about as baffling as the crime, itself, Sergeant."

"I'll say."

He smoked in silence a moment and stared into the darkness.

"Did you look for a missing window cord?" I asked.

Harper jumped up.

"Hell's bells!" he muttered.

"I told him of the search I had made."

He went inside and telephoned down to his office to have the window cord, with which Brauman had been using, found and saved.

"I supposed Brauman had hanged himself when I looked for a window cord with a missing cord. But now what?"

"It might have come from the residence."

"I agreed."

"It's too late now. We want to catch when everyone is up and there will be no suspicion," I said.

"Of course, whoever took a window cord might not have taken it from his own room."

"Or her room."

"Which 'her,' Harper?" I demanded. "I thought he meant Mary."

"Well, that big beauty, Nola Merin, hasn't got her skirts clear. She's a hard one. Remember the brown way she talked to me?"

"There is something phoney here, you are right, but I can't see how she could have done that job."

"Whoever did it wasn't so loco but what he, or she, fixed up that big urn under the limb to look like Brauman had stood on it."

"You took away Brauman's papers and things. Did you find anything?"

"Not a thing that could help us. He's a bachelor, has a sister in Holland and some place. Most of his stuff was seed catalogs, fertilizer formulas, stuff lists of big estate owners, and a few books in Dutch or some such language."

"Hansen says he was getting good pay and seemed to be contented. No reason there. He's eliminated now, but there isn't one chance in a billion that he did the job."

"Nope, Mr. Stevenson, but this thing certainly doesn't clear it up."

"What is your opinion, Sergeant, on the level? I've written a lot of made-up plots and worked them out on theory, but you've handled the real stuff. What's your theory?"

"That professor—"

"Wait, Brauman was killed last night. I saw that professor in New York at half past eleven today!"

"There's an airport over at Greatport. He could have hired a private plane. I'll look that up. I'm still strong in my belief that the art guy did it."

"I forgot to tell you that the expert in New York said today that Lardeau could spot a copy blindfolded and wouldn't take one as a gift. He said an original Van Dyck, of a child of royalty, was worth a hundred thousand."

"There you are, Mr. Stevenson. This thing knew it was worth a hundred grand, and he wouldn't let anything stop him from getting it."

"Mr. Montieth always said it was a copy."

"I know. People make mistakes—more about art than anything else, except, perhaps, women."

"Well, your next one?"

"Two, together, between us. That Griswold party and Miss Montieth."

"I remained silent."

"I don't like that, eh?"

"I don't like to believe it, Sergeant, but it is a logical suspicion."

"Of course, I'm hoping that Miss Montieth doesn't suspect this Griswold. He might have done the job, so as to make sure she got the money, and she not knowing it."

"I'm hoping so, too."

"You were right about this Howard Griswold. I 'phoned Kingsbury today. He's back there, all right."

"That's good. He probably had a car parked some place around here. It's only a ninety mile drive. But we can't take him without more evidence."

"I'll say we can't. I—"

Something creaked and then clicked. We were sitting on the top step of the veranda, which was probably four feet from the ground, with a latticed front.

"What was that?" Harper whispered.

"Well," I said, loudly, nudging him, "that's all we can do tonight, Sergeant."

I stepped down softly. He realized that I wanted him to keep on talking.

"Yep, see you tomorrow morning. Can't say we've learned anything to take us any nearer a solution, although the Brauman job was quite a shock."

I had knelt at the lattice and tried to peer into the blackness and listen. I flashed a light in, next, but there wasn't a thing to be seen.

"It might have been a cat or a rat," I told Harper.

"Must have been. Nobody around here would try to sneak up and listen."

I walked out to the car with him.

"We will investigate all the window cords up there, tomorrow forenoon," I said.

"We sure will. Say, that gives me another idea, Mr. Stevenson."

"Yes?"

"How do we know that the butler, Davison, was up in his room all the time, like he says?"

"We have to take his word for it. The housekeeper didn't see him, and she assured me that he almost always took an hour or two off on quiet afternoons, when Montieth had his sleep."

"Yes, but that doesn't mean he couldn't have come down and done the job, does it?"

"He had the opportunity all right, but did he have any motive?"

"How do we know what went on? How do we know that a big sum of cash, or some valuable jewels aren't missing?"

I hadn't thought of that, and admitted it, promising to investigate the next day.

"There's a safe in the library. How do we know that Mr. Montieth didn't wake up, see Davison working at the safe, and shout to him? Davison might have known about the secret blade in that room, he cleaned it often enough. He might have grabbed it, snicked the blade down and rushed out and finished him."

"A possibility," I agreed.

"And this poor guy, Brauman might have been looking in the screen door at the time. He might have tried to blackmail Davison."

"Again, a possibility. Somehow, I don't feel that this is the solution."

"We've got to figure everything out, Mr. Stevenson."

I agreed to that, and watched him drive away.

I went in and got dinner. The others had eaten.

"The life of a Sherlock Holmes," Sally said, "is a tough one on the digestion—meals at all hours."

Mason brought in a cocktail. Dave and his father came in and sat down.

"What's startling—that you can tell?" David asked.

"Didn't Sally tell you about Lardeau?"

"I did not!" My wife was indignant. "I don't tell things."

Mason brought on a cold fruit cocktail, for which I was grateful, as it had been terrifically hot in the city.

I told them about seeing, and losing Professor Lardeau.

I decided against revealing the surprising news about Brauman. Sally had told them about Mrs. Stapleton's condition.

"I was up there today," my father-in-law said. "The funeral will be strictly private, from the house, to keep the curious away, at two tomorrow. I've arranged flowers for all of us."

After a little more talk I went to bed. I wanted to get through the house next forenoon to learn if any window cord was missing.

I was up fairly early, making notes on everything that had transpired, thus far, in this case.

I came down just as a special delivery letter arrived for me. It was from Philadelphia. I couldn't recall any one I knew there. The handwriting was feminine and neat.

I opened it and turned for the signature.

"I don't know any Elizabeth Briggs," I muttered.

Sally heard me.

"Don't admit anything," she said with a laugh.

The letter was quite to the point, a remarkable one for a maid to have written. It was:

"I used to be Mary Montieth's personal maid. Three weeks ago Mr. Montieth asked me if Miss Mary was meeting Mr. Griswold. I don't tell lies, so I said she was, meeting him often. Miss Mary discharged me for this. The afternoon Mr. Montieth was murdered I came there to get my clothes that were in the wash when I went home. My chum, Belle Jackson, downstairs maid, telephoned me about the murder that night, and said you were working on it. You ought to know that as I was leaving I saw Mr. Griswold coming out of the front door."

"Not so good for this Mister Griswold," I muttered as I read the letter from Elizabeth Briggs, Mary's discharged personal maid.

"Something?" Sally asked.

I let her read the letter, warning her to say nothing about it.

Before I finished my breakfast Sergeant Harper and Wally Foxcroft arrived. Harper was in an unpleasant frame of mind, because some of the newspapers had hinted that the authorities were lax and that arrests should have been made before this.

"Don't let it get you, Sergeant," I advised, "the newspapers are always like that, especially when the reporters are given no information."

"I know, but if we made a lot of arrests and couldn't pin anything on 'em, the papers would make a bigger fuss."

"You can make an arrest today."

"I can? What's up?"

I handed over the letter. Wally Foxcroft actually smiled when he read it. He had insisted from the Mary Carlisle, Bing Crosby and Martha Raye in a scene from "Double or Nothing" at the State tonight and Tuesday.

"Double or Nothing," a musical with a large cast of favorite comedy stars shows tonight and Tuesday at the State.

With Bing Crosby and Martha Raye in the star positions, the cast includes such popular entertainers as Andy Devine, Mary Carlisle, William Frawley, Fay Holden, Samuel S. Hinds, William Henry and others and also has specialty bits from that famed comedy team the Calgary Brothers, the noted eccentric dancing team of Amos and Arny, Alphonse Berg, Tex Morrissey, Frances Paye and Ed Rickard.

Introduces "Sing Band"

In addition there is an aggregation of some 75 beautiful girls and handsome young men known as the "Sing Band". This group uses no musical instruments yet "plays" popular music by imitating the various instruments of a dance orchestra so closely that it is impossible for the human ear to tell the difference.

The "Sing Band" renders several new musical hits written expressly for "Double or Nothing" by the song writing teams of Johnston and Burke, who gave the world "Pennies From Heaven", Sam Coslow and Al Siegel, and Ralph Freed and Burton Lane.

"Double or Nothing," which is a gay and irresponsible story of four persons vying with a crooked lawyer to get a million dollar legacy, is the first film in which Martha Raye plays a star role away from Bob Burns. It is also the first Crosby picture in which Bing uses the same feminine romantic lead for the second time. The honor falls to lovely Mary Carlisle who appeared opposite Bing for the first time in the smash hit "College Humor."

Bette Davis Returns

Bette Davis, considered one of America's greatest emotional actresses, is given a photoplay that has plenty of scope for her unique talents in "That Certain Woman" in which she is romantically teamed with Henry Fonda. The picture start, almost, that Howard Griswold was the guilty party.

"That's enough to warrant holding him," Sergeant Harper said.

Changes Are Seen In Heating Progress; Air-Conditioning Gains Headway

OLD STYLES GIVE WAY TO MODERN

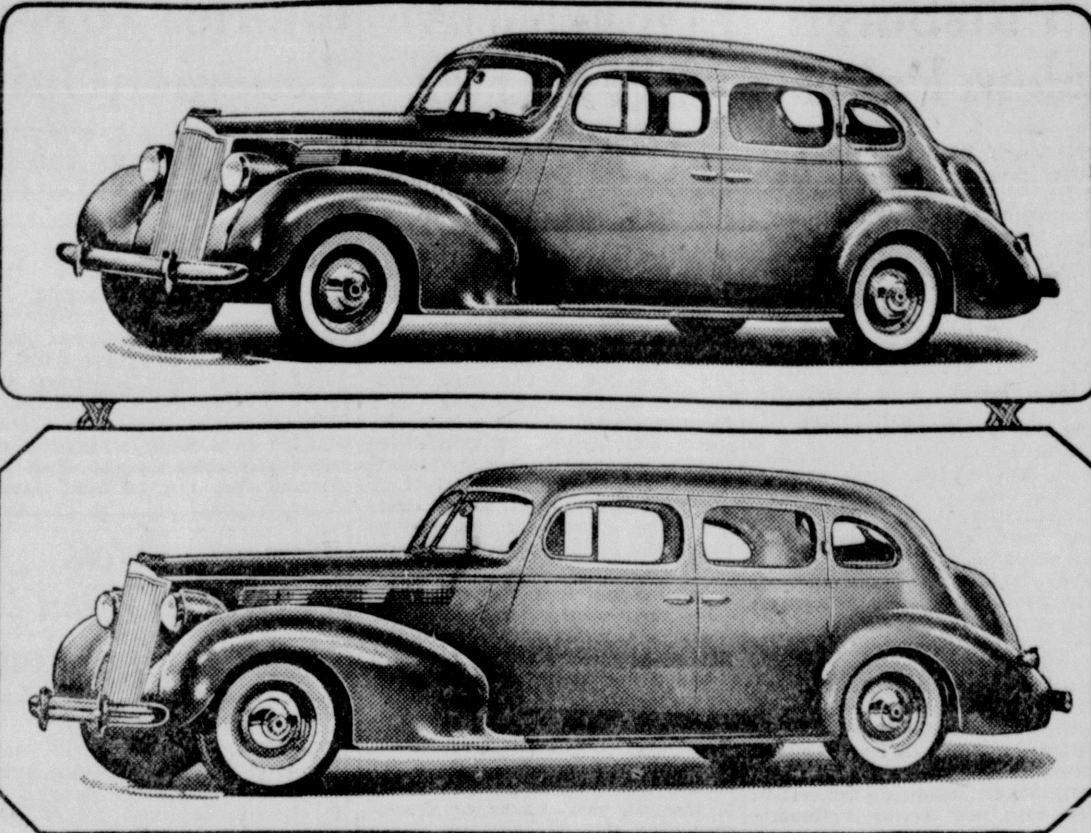

Uniform Temperature Is Chief Factor In Successful Systems

During the past two years the entire complexion of both heating and air-conditioning has changed, says W. W. Tolerton of the Citizens Ice and Coal Co., local Iron Fireman dealer.

In reality, heating and air-conditioning have become inseparable," he says. "The old style heating plant of years gone by has given way to the modern conditioning system of today—a system which embraces all the desirable factors of heating, air-conditioning, and the year-round heating of domestic service water. As such it has taken on a new meaning and importance, and is rapidly being accorded a wide general public acceptance.

Eighty per cent of air-conditioning is heating. And the primary factor necessary for both heating and air-conditioning is that of maintaining uniform temperature, which means automatic firing. Coal fired under automatic thermostat control by Iron Fireman furnishes a smooth supply of heat seldom secured and never surpassed by any other type of burner, for the reason that the constantly glowing fuel bed prevents sharp changes in temperature."

Packard Motor Re-designs Models One-Twenty And Six

After 12 months' record breaking marketing of the most popular and successful cars in the entire history of the company, the Packard Motor Car company has completely re-designed its two big sellers, the Six and the One Twenty. Both are in every way new cars for 1938. They are bigger, better looking inside and out and some of their new features, say Packard engineers, give even greater economy and longer life. Others are said to bring a new riding comfort to motoring.

Pictured above, top, is the 1938 Packard Six four-door touring sedan; below, Packard Eight, four-door touring sedan.

CHRYSLER SHOWS ITS 1938 MODELS

New Lines Revealed To Dealers At Series Of Meetings

Chrysler's 1938 line has been formally presented to the dealer body in a series of one-day meetings.

Distributors, dealers and their salesmen and service representatives assembled in 36 key points to see the new cars and to hear the story of the many changes and improvements made in them. To secure uniformity in the presentations and insure that the story was told in a complete and interesting manner, sound films were used.

Varied Styles on View

Enough body styles were on view in each meeting to convey an adequate idea of the merchandise with which Chrysler dealers will seek further increases over the record-breaking sales of 1937.

Joseph W. Frazer, vice president in charge of sales of the Chrysler division, Chrysler corporation, in discussing the meeting said: "We feel sure that our dealer body will greet the 1938 line with the greatest enthusiasm in our history. Our own conviction that we had produced the most attractive and saleable cars ever to bear the Chrysler name was strengthened by the reception given these cars when we showed them to our Chrysler 100 Club a short time ago.

This club comprises the 100 best Chrysler salesmen in the country, based on the records of the year from June 30, 1936, to July 1, 1937. Many of them have made the select circle three times in a row. Surely this group is as well qualified as any to appraise the merits of a motor car. They are the boys on the firing line—the infantry in the sales battle. I never before have seen salesmen so enthusiastic as they were over the cars on which their earnings will depend for the coming year.

The same reaction was given by our field force from all over the country when we assembled it in Detroit a few days ago. Here again was an expert and critical group; one whose success must largely depend on the character of the merchandise we supply the dealers. Like the 100 Club members they had nothing but praise for the appearance and mechanical excellence of the new cars.

Enlarge Facilities

"So confident are we that this new line will set new sales records that we have enlarged and improved our production facilities in the Chrysler division. We not only have increased and rearranged manufacturing space to take care of a greatly increased production schedule, but we have introduced or perfected processes that will enable us to turn out this much larger number of cars with higher standards of precision than ever before. The new Chrysler not only are better than ever in design but they will last even longer and give even more satisfactory and economical service. They are bigger, they have new and larger engines that give superior performance with amazing economy and that they will have more eye appeal—more of all the things that make a person want to buy a car just from seeing it. See them at the Smith garage, E. Third St.

Takes School Post Cutting Essential Costs Proves Threat To Quality

Production methods in any dry cleaning plant govern the costs. Quantity of production depends upon the standard, or quality, of the work done.

L. C. Price, manager of the Paris Cleaners plant on the Benton rd., today explains what the above statements mean to the patron of any dry cleaning plant.

He says: "Many plants actually finish as many as 60 dresses per day per operator. Such speed undoubtedly lowers quality. At the Paris, where only thoroughly experienced help is hired, and where the most modern machinery is used, an average of only six dresses per hour is the production rate.

"A little thought on this one phase of a highly developed industry would soon convince anyone who cares that work done at bargain rates must, to be profitable, leave much to be desired.

"To appear at its best, good cleaning must be handled carefully through the many steps in a dry cleaning plant. The final cost, of course, can be cut, but the patron must remember, when cost cutting impairs necessary operations, then the quality of production is bound to suffer."

Millionth of An Inch Deviation Shown By Instrument

SERVICE AIDS FALL DRIVING

Good Mechanical Condition Assures More Pleasant Journey

DEARBORN—Deviations of one-millionth of an inch in material under manufacture are measured instantly with a new "profilometer" developed for the Ford Motor Co.

This instrument, said to be the only one of its kind in existence brings millionth-of-an-inch precision out of the laboratory and into the production line.

The speed and accuracy of the device, which measures units so small 3,000 of them would be required to equal the size of a human hair, is arousing the widest interest among scientists.

The instrument operates on some of the principles used in radio, and is not impressive in appearance. It consists of a small metal box attached by a five-wired electric cable to an amplifying cabinet. There is a dial on top of the small metal box and a diamond-tipped needle in the bottom.

As the box is pushed across the surface to be measured, the needle follows the invisible contours in it. This causes variations in the electric current, which are amplified in the larger cabinet and returned to the dial, where an instantaneous reading appears in terms of millionths of an inch.

The machine is simple to operate, and by watching the flickering of the needle closely the operator obtains a measurement of the average smoothness of the surface, as well as of the extreme depths of any pits that may be present.

PITT AND CORNELL LOOM AS EASTERN LEADERS

Nebraska, Northwestern And Wisconsin Leading Squads In Middle West

Notre Dame Disappointing In Tie With Illinois; Pitt-Fordham Clash May Decide Eastern Grid Title; State May Come Back

By HERBERT W. BARKER
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Slowly the football cream is rising to the top so that today, after the first three weeks of the season, a more definite picture of sectional championship possibilities is taking form—subject to change without notice, let it be added hastily.

On the basis of results to date, here's where the strength seems to lie:

East—Pitt and Cornell have demonstrated their right to a place in the front ranks with Army, Navy, Yale, Boston college, Harvard and Holy Cross up there or thereabouts. Judgment must be withheld on Fordham, Dartmouth and Syracuse until they begin picking on teams their own size.

Middle West—Nebraska, Wisconsin and Northwestern must be given the place of honor, at least for the time being. Notre Dame, Ohio State, Minnesota and Purdue may come back from defeat or tie to gain championship recognition.

South—Duke of the Southern conference and Alabama, Louisiana State, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Georgia and Georgia Tech of the southeastern are the current leaders.

Far West—California and Santa Clara stand alone.

Southwest—Texas A. and M. and Baylor look most formidable.

Rocky Mountain—Colorado is the one to watch. Some of these undoubtedly will fall by the wayside during this week's program, by far the best so far offered.

The eastern championship may well be settled when Pitt and Fordham collide in the Polo grounds, both hoping they don't play their third successive scoreless tie. Pitt tripped its 1936 conqueror, Duquesne, last week on Marshall. The 77-yard run on the second play of the game, Fordham swamped Wayneburg, 48-0, in its second tune-up game.

An invasion by Notre Dame, Georgia, Detroit and Tulane lends a strong intersectional angle to the program. Notre Dame, disappointed in its scoreless tie with Illinois, plays Carnegie Tech, beaten 7-0 by Purdue, Georgia, 14-0 conqueror of Clemson, plays Holy Cross where Bill Osmanski scored all four touchdowns in a 21-6 rout of Georgetown. Tulane meets Colgate at Buffalo and Detroit plays Catholic at Washington.

Princeton plays a green Chicago team whipped, 27-0, by Wisconsin, but the emphasis will be on Big Ten competition. Northwestern, which had to resort to pass to turn back Michigan, 7-0, faces Purdue while Michigan plays Minnesota, hard pressed to whip Indiana, 6-0. Indiana and Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa are the other conference pairings.

In the Big Six, Nebraska which found Iowa State a tough hurdle, 20-7, plays Oklahoma's Sooners who tied Texas 7-7. Michigan State plays Marquette.

The wildest conference race in history looms in the southwest after Baylor projected itself into the thick of the fight by whipping the 1936 champion, Arkansas, 20-14, last week. Arkansas will try to get going against Texas while Texas A. and M. tackles Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, who tripped Tulsa, 20-13. Baylor meets the tough non-conference Centenary eleven while Southern Methodist entertains Vanderbilt. Rice, whipped 13-0 by Louisiana State, plays Tulsa.

Tennessee and Alabama collide in the feature southeastern tussle of a four-game conference schedule. Alabama whipped South Carolina, 20-0, and Tennessee played Duke to a scoreless tie.

The other "league" pairings send Louisiana State against Mississippi; Auburn against Mississippi State, and Georgia Tech, which flashed real power in a 32-0 rout of Kentucky, plays Washington and Lee, outpointed 6-0 by West Virginia.

After last week's dizzy form-reversals, California's Golden Bears stood out as the only undefeated team within the Pacific coast conference. U. C. L. A. was badly outplayed by Stanford, 12-7, and Washington was upset by Oregon the State's passes, 6-3, in the most amazing upset of the campaign. California, meanwhile, rolled over Washington State, 27-0, using the first-stringers only during the first half.

The outstanding game this week pits Southern California against Oregon. The Trojans upset favored Ohio State, 13-12.

Mrs. Lawson Page Is New Women's Champ

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 11.—Six years ago a duffer, today the national champion—that's the record of Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, 29-year-old Greensboro, N. C., matron and the new U. S. women's titleholder.

Her victory Saturday over red-headed Pat Berg of Minneapolis by a 7 and 6 margin was not only a triumph over the medalist jinx but also one for perseverance and patience.

Mrs. Page took the medal this year and last, but never had advanced further than the third round.

Early this year, Mrs. Page, her eye on the national title, decided she would stay home and practice, and play in nearby meets rather than tour the winter circuit.

She got her reward Saturday for those endless practice rounds—even par for the 36 holes of the match with Miss Berg.

MICHIGAN SHOWS IMPROVEMENT IN BIG TEN LEAGUE

Wolverines Are Coming Back Into Gridiron Prominence

BY EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Michigan is fighting its way back into Big Ten football prominence "the hard way."

Wolverine teams, the past few years notably excepted, have been famous for strong lines, and Michigan's strong showing against Northwestern's champions Saturday indicates that Harry Kipke, Hunk Anderson and others of the Michigan staff are concentrating on building a forward wall which may help the Wolves back to new Western conference prestige.

Michigan's line play against Northwestern, which won a hard fought 7 to 0 victory, was immeasurably improved over the Wolverine line play in the Michigan State opener. The tackling was vicious and the general play of the forwards intelligent. Observers agreed that Don Siegel, young tackle, played an outstanding defensive game.

A momentary let-down by the Wolverine secondary, which enabled Cleo Diehl to snare a pass, beat Michigan, but from all appearances Minnesota will have a big job on its hands when the Gophers invade Ann Arbor next Saturday. Minnesota had hard work in turning back a scrappy Indiana team 6 to 0, being hard pressed to halt a second-half attack by the underdog Hoosiers. The Gopher pass defense had noticeable weaknesses.

Indiana faces the fighting Illinois team, which added another upset to its long list of surprises by holding the highly rated Notre Dame eleven to a scoreless tie. Notre Dame had a big edge in statistics, but the Illinois rose superbly to great defense whenever the Irish had chances to score. The Indiana-Illinois game should be a bitterly fought affair.

Notre Dame travels east to take on Carnegie Tech, which lost a 7 to 0 decision to Purdue's Boilermakers, who presented a great defense to the Tech attack in the final period. Cecil Isbell's pass to his brother, Cody, set the stage for Louis Brock's touchdown dash. Purdue's opponent next Saturday will be Northwestern, on the Wildcat field.

Wisconsin trampled Chicago 27 to 0, and while Chicago didn't show enough to give the Badgers a severe test, the Har- Wisconsin squad indicated the Big Ten race. The Badgers next Saturday go against Iowa at Madison. Iowa came through with a 14 to 7 win over Bradley Tech of Illinois. Chicago entertains an intersectional foe, playing host to Princeton, which lost to Cornell 20 to 7.

Ohio State, the only conference team idle next Saturday, suffered its first loss in three games, dropping a 13 to 12 thriller to Southern California. The Buckeyes were leading in the final period 12 to 6 when Schindler of the Trojans passed to Anderson for a touchdown and Ralph Stanley made the all-important try for point.

CHICAGO BEARS WHIP RAMS FOR THIRD VICTORY

Detroit Lions Defeat Pirates For Third Win Of Season

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The Chicago Bears once again are prowling down the professional football champion trail.

The Bears, who took their last title in 1933 and since have seen the New York Giants, Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers wearing the National Professional league crown, won their third straight victory of the season yesterday, defeating the young Cleveland Rams 20 to 2.

In three wins in as many games the Bears scored 41 points on Green Bay's champion Packers, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Rams, and have had only four points scored on them. The Packers tallied on a safety in the Bears' opener of the year and the Rams could get only two points yesterday.

The Chicago team scored a touchdown and a field goal, the placement by the reliable Jack Manders, in the second period; added another three points through Manders' toe in the third and scored a touchdown in the final period on Ed Mankes' pass interception and 55-yard scoring run. Beattie Feathers gave Cleveland its safety by accidentally stepping out of the end zone as he went back to punt in the final period.

Detroit's Lions won their third game in four starts by turning back the strong Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 3. The Lions marched 78 yards to come from behind and win as Ernie Caddel went the last two yards around end in the third period. Pittsburgh tallied in the second period on Armand Niccolai's 11-yard placement. The battle, played in Detroit, drew 16,000 spectators.

The Green Bay Packers, who started slowly this season and have lost two games, scored a full yardage around end in the third period. Clark Hinkle, Gantenbein, Scherer and Janowski scored touchdowns for the titleholders, while Engbreiten and Hinkle each made field goals. A crowd of 18,000 saw the game played in Milwaukee.

Philadelphia, after four defeats and one tie, broke into the win column with a 14 to 0 shutout of Washington's Redskins, who lacked scoring punch on several occasions. Some 15,000 fans saw Philadelphia score on a pass. Smulder, in the first, and were given a thrill when Harper intercepted an aerial and ran 20 yards for a touchdown in the final stanza.

This week's schedule: Sunday: Brooklyn at Detroit. Chicago Bears and Cardinals at Chicago.

Green Bay at Cleveland. Philadelphia at New York.

Ray Long Leads Pittsburgh To Win Over Salem Poloists

The Salem Polo club tasted defeat for the first time in more than a month yesterday, losing to Pittsburgh North Hills, 11 to 6, before a small crowd at Old Fairgrounds field.

The attendance was held down considerably by cold weather and other sports' activity.

After playing on even terms with North Hills in the first three chukkers, the Salem poloists slowed down in the last three chukkers and were held to two goals while the Pennsylvanians tallied seven times.

The stellar play of Ray Long gave Pittsburgh its victory in the closing frames. Long continually took long passes from his teammate Davey Smith and carried the ball up the field for scores.

North Hills went into the lead in the first chukker, 2 to 1, but Salem came back in the second period to tie the score at 3 to 3. Both teams tallied once in the third period to deadlock the score at 4 to 4 at half time.

Pittsburgh went far out in front in the fourth chukker, scoring four times while holding Salem without a goal. Again in the fifth period, Salem went blank while Pittsburgh tallied twice.

The Salem riders made their final bid in the last period, scoring two goals to Pittsburgh's one, but were too far behind to make any impression on the North Hills' lead.

Captain Jim Pidgeon and Brooke (Fete) Votaw, the Salem club's leading players, were both off form. Pidgeon failed to break into the scoring column while Votaw tallied only once.

Raymond Moff and Owen Lewis of Alliance accounted for five of Salem's goal, the former scoring twice and the latter three times.

SALEM PITTSBURGH
Moff No. 1 Foster
Pidgeon No. 2 Smith
Votaw No. 3 Everett
Spares: Lewis for Salem; Long for Pittsburgh.

Goals: Long (4), Smith (4), Foster (2) and Everett (1) for Pittsburgh; Lewis (3); Moff (2) and Votaw (1) for Salem.

Referee: Jack Hendricks (Salem); umpire, Ted Turkle Alliance.

FISHER IS STAR AT COLUMBIANA

Leads Wiand Gridders To 27-0 Victory Over Leetonia

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 11.—Led by Richard (Sonny) Fisher, Coach Jimmy Wiand's Columbiana High school gridgers bounded back into the victory column Saturday with a 27 to 0 win over Leetonia.

Fisher dashed through center for 30 yards to register the initial tally but missed the extra point. Magill went around end for the second marker in the third quarter with Fisher's plunge being good for the additional point. Fisher raced 25 yards in the final frame to account for the third score. Magill made a quarterback sneak for the point. The last marker came on an end run by E. Entriiken snatching Fisher's point for the 27th tally.

Columbiana made 10 first downs while Leetonia was unable to gain against the stiff home defense.

Fisher, Bauer, Eckert and E. Poulton were outstanding for the victors while Niccolai and Waggle starred for Leetonia.

The lineups: COLUMBIANA LEETONIA
Bauer LE Sullivan
F. Poulton LT Eastek
R. Irons LG Kootz
E. Poulton C Reese
Culp RG Milcitch

Yankees Believed Too Strong For Good Of Baseball After Easy Win In Series

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—What baseball needs is a program to plow under every second or third Yankee and give the game back to the common players.

Every club in the American league would vote for it. The Giants, home-runned to death, 4 to 2, in the fifth and final game of the World series yesterday at the Polo grounds, would stuff the ballot boxes.

If something like that isn't done, it will be difficult to generate much enthusiasm in the 1938 World series next October, when the Yankees, no doubt, will prepare to take another luckless National league team apart.

Sixth Title
Twice before the Yankees reeled off three straight pennants before tapering off. They have now been victorious in their last five World series appearances and won six altogether, which tops any other club in baseball history. Up to this year the Yankees were tied with the Red Sox and Athletics, at five world championships each. They have now won 20 of their last 23 inter-league games.

Only the Giants have been able to give the Yankees any sort of an argument at any time in the World series, and that debate hasn't lasted very long in two years.

Baseball men generally agreed today the Yankees aren't doing the game any good, and that some means of putting graphite under the juggernaut's wheels would be welcomed by every manager and owner in the two major leagues—except Col. Jacob Ruppert.

The Colonel, who is reputed to be down to his last 17 million in ready cash and negotiable securities, was almost heart-broken because his boys failed to make it four straight on Saturday. Carl Hubbell deprived him of that satisfaction. And yesterday, when the Giants, two runs behind, were battling in the last of the ninth, the Colonel buried his eyes in his arms and wouldn't look.

The Giants offered no solution of the Yankee problem. Nobody in their dressing room moaned: "The lucky sticks." Bill Terry, their manager, could not recall ever having seen a greater team than the Yankees, nor one as great in every respect.

ists slowed down in the last three chukkers and were held to two goals while the Pennsylvanians tallied seven times.

The stellar play of Ray Long gave Pittsburgh its victory in the closing frames. Long continually took long passes from his teammate Davey Smith and carried the ball up the field for scores.

JILTED LOVER KILLS HERSELF

Prominent Shreveport Girl
Shoots Self And Suitor

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 11.—Police today probed the "broken romance" tragedy that brought death to Lois Lewis, 22, and sent Downs Poindexter, University of Oklahoma student, to the hospital in a serious condition with three bullet wounds.

City detectives said Poindexter,
23, told them Miss Lewis shot him three times and then turned the gun on herself after he told her
"it's all over between us."

The shooting took place last night at the Lewis home in a fashionable residential district.

Dr. Willis P. Butler, Caddo parish coroner, said the girl had been shot once through each breast. A revolver, he said, was found lying between her feet.

Members of prominent families
here, Miss Lewis and Poindexter had been "going together" for three years.

Poindexter, son of an iron works manager, came here for the weekend with Hayden Linebaugh, of Muskegon, Okla., a fellow student at the University of Oklahoma.
They called on Miss Lewis with Willelle Myers, another Shreveport girl.

In a hospital with wounds in his right arm and cheek, Poindexter told Detectives Max Hunt and M.
Bzell that Linebaugh and Miss
Myers went out to a drug store
after the four played bridge.

The detectives quoted him as saying, "Then Lewis and I sat down and talked for a few minutes, and I told her that I had found some one else. She got up and said,
'well, I suppose that sinks me.'"

"She walked into the next room and returned in a minute with a gun, shooting at me. That's all I remember."

He was born Oct. 7, 1921, in Leetonia and was a freshman in Leetonia High school. He is survived by his parents; one brother, Julian and three sisters, Ann, Mildred and Mary, all at home.

Funeral service will be held at 9
a. m. Tuesday in St. Patrick's Catholic church in charge of Rev.
Fr. T. Marchant. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

JESSE HALVERSTADT
LEETONIA, Oct. 11.—Jesse Halverstadt, 75, died at 10:50 a. m.
Sunday at his home, 662 East Columbia st., Leetonia, of complications following four days' illness.

He was born in Salem township
Feb. 17, 1862, and resided in this vicinity all his life. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

He leaves his wife, Mary, and two daughters, Mrs. Walter Windram of South of Leetonia and Mrs.
Harry Flugan of Cleveland; three grandchildren.

Rev. J. W. Grohne will conduct funeral service at St. Paul's church at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Supreme Court, federal troops would have crossed the state's borders and in all probability precipitated the war months before its actual outbreak.

Tribute to Honor Guest
In paying a tribute to Att'y Vo-drey, Justice Weygant remarked on the moving pictures of Beaver Kennels—Attorney Vodrey's farm at Fredericktown where the bar association meets annually. The pictures showed some of the thoroughbred horses and livestock belonging to the farm.

"I have always believed," he said,
"that the men who take the time to get into the country and who interest themselves in horses are the men of broadest culture."

Both the chief justice and Att'y Vodrey were introduced by Att'y I.
M. Keyes, president of the association. In speaking of the latter, Att'y Keyes observed that the occasion commemorated the 40th anniversary of the guest of honor's admission to the bar. Justice Weygant was introduced as a jurist whose work had brought him into state-wide prominence and as a member of the American Bar association's judiciary committee.

Guests included lawyers from surrounding counties, court house officials and members of the appellate court for this district.

The program included impromptu quartet selections and singing by the entire assembly.

ing of Girard figured in a minor collision on Route 9, three miles southwest of Salem, at 11:25 a. m.
Saturday, state highway patrolmen said. No one was injured.

Brakes Let Go
Police said the brakes on a car
owned by Russell Myers, Star Route, let loose while the machine was parked on S. Ellsworth ave.,
Saturday night and the machine rolled into another vehicle.

Machines driven by Ira McMillen
of Wellsville and Michael Naugle, Export, Pa., collided at the junction of Routes 7 and 14, east of Columbiana, at 5 p. m. Saturday.
A mishap at the junction of Routes 45 and 224, at Ellsworth, at 6:30 p. m. Saturday involved the cars of Clara Wiggins of Cleveland and Riley Hendrick of Newtown Falls.
